Detailed Reviewer's Report

1. The research problem is not clear. It blends: Motivation, writing challenges, and quality of instruction Contentment
2. You combine several variables without providing precise definitions: "Writing descriptive essays", "Curriculum, "Quality of instruction," and "Student satisfaction." These are not precisely defined, not connected in theory, and occasionally handled inconsistently as independent and dependent variables
3. You state, "100 students from a well-known public high school." No sampling technique (convenience or random?). Low generalizability due to only one school
4. Line no. 356: "lack of statistical significance." This is incorrect
Because: $p = 0.00 < 0.01 \rightarrow$ statistically significant
5. The findings section is poorly organized
 - a. Tables are messy and repeated
 - b. Some items are unclear or duplicated
 - c. Writing mixes interpretation + raw data
6. Discussion neither compares findings with previous studies nor explains why the relationships exist.
 - a. Many references are very descriptive, not analytical. Duplicate entries, Irrelevant sources (e.g., plasma physics), Incomplete citations
 - b. Formatting inconsistent
