Detailed Reviewer's Report

The paper gives a clear and organised summary of how Israel's National Health Insurance financing has changed over time, based on CBS and OECD data. It explains the main trends in spending, funding sources and comparisons with other countries in a simple descriptive way. The results are presented in a structured manner that makes the key patterns easy to understand, even without deep background knowledge. Some ideas are repeated in different sections, but overall the manuscript stays focused on describing the data and showing long-term trends in a consistent way.
