Detailed Reviewer's Report

- Numerous grammatical and language issues require professional English editing.
- Several tables are overcrowded and difficult to read.
- Table numbering is inconsistent (e.g., Tables 4.11, 4.12, 4.14, etc.).
- Some references appear to have formatting inconsistencies.
- Abbreviations such as TPI, MCA, PKRMS, PSI, and AHP should be clearly defined when first introduced.
- Figure and graph captions should follow journal formatting guidelines.
- The conclusion section should be more concise and emphasize the practical implications of the findings.
- Lack of sensitivity and validation analysis.
- Limited discussion of results.
- Significant language and formatting issue
