

REVIEWER'S REPORT

Manuscript No.: IJAR-58895

Title: Overcoming Judicial Backlog and Delay

Recommendation:

Accept as it is

✓ Accept after minor revision

Accept after major revision

Do not accept (Reasons below)

Rating	Excel.	Good	Fair	Poor
Originality			✓
Techn. Quality			✓
Clarity			✓
Significance			✓

Reviewer's ID: JPR- 102

Detailed Reviewer's Report

The paper addresses a relevant issue of judicial backlog and the role of ADR in reducing delay. It covers the main ADR mechanisms, their historical development, advantages and some important judicial decisions. However, several parts need better organisation and elaboration for clarity, particularly the connection between ADR and the actual problem of judicial delay and backlog. Some statements are repetitive and certain legal references, sections, case names and dates should be carefully checked and updated. The discussion would also be stronger if the author included more recent developments, particularly the Mediation Act, 2023 and explained how the present legal framework can practically help in reducing pendency. Footnotes also need to be made uniform throughout the paper.

Accept with minor recommendations.