Detailed Reviewer's Report

1. Define all abbreviations at first use,
2. Some sentences are excessively long and should be divided for readability.
3. There are several grammatical expressions that require professional English-language editing.
4. The references should be carefully checked for consistency in:

- author formatting;
- journal names;
- volume/issue;
- page numbers;
- DOI formatting.

1. The reference list should be checked to ensure every in-text citation appears in the reference list and vice versa.
